Ms. Brown's Newsletter

We are learning:

Reading: This month, we will begin our next unit on what impact can people have on the environment. Students will be reading books that focus on people who impact the environment in a positive way. Students will see real life examples of people using their voices to make impacts on the environments around the world, as well as in Chicago.

Writing: students will write about what impacts can people have on the environment, which will go into opinion writing. Students will also continue word study and new spelling patterns throughout the month.

Math: Students will be learning how to tell time and learn vocabulary that's used to tell time (ex: half past, quarter to, etc...). Towards the end of the month, students will be introduced to our geometry and fractions unit.

Science/Social Studies: April is a very exciting month for science and social studies. Earth Day and recycling will be the main focus. Students will learn the many ways to keep our planet safe. We will also continue our unit on U.S. government.
